New Weight Program Under Way

A unique new medical program for persons with weight problems has been tried here and is gaining nationwide attention.

The service is designed for persons who need individualized treatment for endocrine disorders, under- and overweight problems, and other conditions related to abnormal metabolism.

The Medical Weight Problem is under the direction of the General Medical Group, 542 E. Carson St., where doctors examine patients and pattern individual programs for their histories.

Patients receive a newsletter in their home which contains nutritional hints, low-calorie recipes, and tips for the person with a weight problem.

Hours for the program are 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. Mondays, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tuesdays through Fridays, and 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturdays. More information may be obtained by calling 835-4375.

Tiny Tots to Have Program At Area Park

The Tiny Tots program for pre-school children will be offered again by the Torrance Recreation Department beginning Saturday, according to Carol Denmark, leader.

Program, designed to give children, between the ages of 4 and 6, an opportunity for group experiences with games, crafts, singing and storytelling will be held at Walteria Park, 2 to 3 p.m. each Saturday through Dec. 14.

Class enrollment is limited to 30 children. Registrations will be taken at the park or at initial classes. There will be no charge.

School Health Education Assn. Slates Conclave

"Health Education in California Schools - Curtailment or Expansion?" will be the theme of the annual conference of the California School Health Assn., Saturday and Sunday in Santa Monica.

More than 500 school nurses and health educators will attend the meeting. Dr. Wallace Wesley, department of health education for the American Medical Assn., and Oliver Byrd, professor of health education at Stanford University, will be the featured speakers during the two-day conclave.

Also on the program is a talk by Bernice Moss, professor of health education at the University of Utah.

DR. CHARLES HOPKINS Senior Scientist

Hughes Names Psychologist To New Post

Dr. Charles Hopkins, who lives with his wife and two children at 639 Camino de Encanto, was promoted from senior staff engineer at Hughes Aircraft Co., to senior scientist.

An engineering psychologist, Hopkins has been with Hughes since 1955 working in cockpit research and development, display systems and human factors engineering. He holds a doctorate in psychology from the University of Illinois.

A resident of Torrance since 1956, he is a member of the Riviera Homeowners Assn. and is educational vice president of South Bay Toastmasters Club 280.

Menorah Sets Fund Raising

Temple Menorah will sponsor a major fund raising event, a Hanukkah carnival, Dec. 8.

Featured attractions of the afternoon event will include: Maccabean matinees for the children at 2 and 4 p.m. featuring live entertainment; Hanukkahland fantasia of carnival booths; and a 50 cent ticket drawing for three prizes which will be a color television set, a surfboard and a portable stereo phono.

The Temple religious school will sponsor a contest for artwork projects depicting the Hanukkah theme - religious freedom. Winning projects will be on display.

Hotdogs, potato lotkes (pancakes), cotton candy, and souvenirs will be on sale beginning at noon.

Wartburg College Head to Arrive

Dr. C. H. Becker, president of Wartburg College of Waverly, Iowa, will include Torrance in his speaking tour of California and Colorado to contact alumni, foundations and others interested in the school.

He will appear here Sunday.
